Notes for Fanny Talamo:
Thought to have been married three times, (1) Tillotson, (2) ?, (3) Walker?.
Lived in Liverpool

Given as sister aged 30 to head of household in 1881 census but thought more likely to be a sister in law. This indicates date of birth as about 1851.
Death registrations search found ref 1905, March, Pancras, 1b,88. This Certificate gives age as 75 so born about 1830. Therefore unlikely to be related to Charles Louis Talamo

Generation No. 3

5. Charles Louis Sauveur Marie³ Talamo (Davide Benjamin², Gennaro Giovanni¹) was born November 28, 1846 in 59 Rue Chaussee d'Antin, Paris, France, and died May 25, 1911 in Hillsboro, Finnemere Road, Little Bromwich, Birmingham. He married Minna Isabella Ercks Jackson July 25, 1876 in St John`s Church, Ladywood, Warwickshire, daughter of John Jackson and Mary Homer. She was born Abt. 1858 in Liverpool, and died June 12, 1924 in Devon?.

Notes for Charles Louis Sauveur Marie Talamo:

Origins as recalled by J.D.C.Talamo at start of research.
My grandfather Charles Louis Talamo, came to England as a child of 7 years of age as a refugee. In Paris he had been befriended by "The Countess Servatius" who had helped him get to Dover where he was placed in the care of the Church (the Bishop?).

His origins were Italian, from somewhere on the mainland near Elba.
There is said to be a family coat of arms of two greyhounds, and of a castle .(Whilst In China my father had a seal made showing two greyhounds rampant).
None of the foregoing has been verified.

Whilst my father was named Talamo. he registered his children as di Talamo, and this has been carried on by some descendants. Personally I found it a nuisance and legally discarded it but it still crops up on documents where the birth certificate is required. Those searching Birth marriage and death records of the Talamo family need to consult the "D"s as well as the "T"s.

My brother Nigel had Servatius as his third Christian name which caused him much anguish!
There was said to be a relative in Russia who was an Opera singer. (Davide)

Both Charles Louis and his father in law were Tobacconists. Later as a commercial traveller he worked for W.H.Fairfax of Little Britain, London and Broad St. Birmingham. They were wholesalers of all things manufactured in iron and steel from nails to anvils and revolvers, he was the Continental salesman, and set up a branch office in Milan. Charles is believed also to have worked for a time for a company selling transmission belting.

- 12 v. Winifred Grace Talamo, born December 21, 1892; died Abt. June 1961 in Hele Bay, Ilfracombe.

Notes for Winifred Grace Talamo:

With the help of her brothers Winnifred and Josephine set up a Small holding/poultry farm at West down near Woolacombe Devon. Winnifred loved all animals and could not bear to cull the sickley ones. As a consequence the kitchen was often host to dying chicks and birds. Even the spiders had names.

When the farm failed, the sisters started a guest house at Hele Bay just outside Ilfracombe. Josephine did the cooking whilst Winnifred took a job collecting orders for Mr. Berry a seed/ cattle food merchant from farms all over Exmoor travelling mostly on foot.

After Jo died , Winnie ran the Guest house with the aid of Miss Huxtable from Ilfracombe.

During WW2 Valentines daughters, stayed with the sisters and attended Ilfracombe Grammar School 1939/40.

9. Valentine John David⁴ Talamo (Charles Louis Sauveur Marie³, Davide Benjamin², Gennaro Giovanni¹) was born February 14, 1880, and died February 5, 1943 in Meriden, Warwickshire. He married Victoria Maud Cowles July 23, 1921 in Brentford, Middlesex, daughter of Frederick Cowles and Elizabeth Street. She was born April 7, 1887 in Chelsea, London, and died September 28, 1955.

Notes for Valentine John David Talamo:

Born 14 february 1880 in Stratford le Bow, Essex

Educated at Waverly School small heath, Birmingham then a Technical School. Madge also went there as did Minna and Mary, Valentines daughters in the 1930` s. Valentine was apprenticed to Lanchesters the Engineering Company and went to work with the company in America in Sprigfield Mass. about 1911/12. He returned to join up for WW1 but as a qualified engineer remained a civilian (rumoured because of Italian ancestry) . He later worked at Gwynns (pumps?) in London and then at Stones another engineering firm. This latter company closed during the 1930`s depression and Valentine then went to work at the Pressed Steel Co. in Oxford and then to Nuffields when the family moved from West Wickham near Croyden to Marston Green near Birmingham. During the war Nuffields were manufacturing Military Tanks.

He died 5 Feb 1943 from pneumonia contracted in the flu epidemic.

He married Bessie Buck August 2, 1924 in Christ Church, Erith, Kent (Source: Marriage Certificate of Edward Rex di Talamo and Bessie Buck, Witnesses Joseph Arthur Buck, Mary Buck, Valentine di Talamo, Josephine di Talamo.), daughter of Joseph Buck and Mary Thurgar. She was born July 12, 1895 in Bexley Kent District UK/Kent, England (Source: Certificate of Registry of Birth.), and died August 23, 1982 in Sutton Coldfield, Warwickshire.

Notes for Edward Rex Talamo:

He attended Birmingham Municipal School of Art where he won First prize for drawing in pencil. (stuffed birds). Prize was The Elements of drawing by John Ruskin. Vivien Mossman is believed to have some of his drawings and paintings of birds.

He served an apprenticeship with Alfred Herbert`s the machine tool manufacturers and afterwards was employed by Vickers-Armstrongs at Weybridge in the Drawing Office. He rose to be Chief Draughtsman and made major contributions to the development of stabiliser gear for guns in Battleships.

Married in 1924 at Crayford. His name given as Di Talamo on marriage certificate.

In 1935 he went to Whitehead Torpedo Works near Weymouth where the family had an extended holiday at the Coastguard Cottages at Langton Herring near the Swannery at Abbotsbury.

In 1936 his family followed him to Spain on the Hamburg Amerika Line "Iberia". Here ERT worked with Armamento Aviacion in Eibar who were licensed to make Vickers `K` aircraft observer machine guns for the Republican government (General Franco at that time was acting as Governor of the Canary Isles). At the beginning of the Civil war the family was evacuated from Santander by a British Destroyer HMS "Verity" and were landed in France at St Jean de Luz.

In 1938 he move to Manchester to Vicker`s Openshaw works which I believe was tooling up to manufacture Lancaster bombers? From there he moved to Chester where he was Manager of the Vickers Wellington bomber factory which was built on a green field site between Hawarden and Broughton which is now Chester Airport.

His next move was in 1939 to The Castle Bromich shadow factory near Birmingham where the Supermarine Spitfire was to be mass produced. He was General Manager was much involved with machine tool flow lines and jig installations and was subsequently one of the recipients of the Beverbrooke "Ten in June " memento awards.

He left Vickers to work for the Ministry of Supply in Birmingham and then for Skefco`s in Bristol, and then to David Brown Gears in Huddersfield.

He then made a complete departure from Engineering by moving to the British Embassy in China as a Commercial Secretary in about 1945 before the end of the Japanese War. He was First Secretary (Commercial) in Chungking then under the Chiang Kai Chek regime. He travelled extensively and made several trips to India by Dakota. He met his son Nigel then in the Indian Army on two occasions.

The Communists took over in 1947? he became a virtual prisoner in China. When the Consulate reopened in Shanghai his title was Commercial Consul or Counsellor. He remained there until 1952.

On his return to Sutton Coldfield he was in poor health with heart trouble and he died in October 1955 aged 63 years.
